

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

The public airways are owned by us, the people of this country. Profit has it's place, but not at the expense of acting on behalf of one political party. That leads to the kind of corruption we often criticize in dictatorships abroad.

We must strengthen media ownership rules. The license renewal process must be based on stations/companies acting legally, responsibly, and non-partisanly.

Sincerely,
Sharry Teague